

You were too young to understand all the words I was saying to you.
Holding you and looking into your eyes I can only hope you felt all the love I have for you.
So beautiful to look at and warm to hold there will never be another you.
To be your mother was the greatest joy.
I will speak to you each day and let you know the love we shared was beyond words.
Until then I will hold you, touch you and kiss you.
As you pass beyond my presence I still see you.
You are a great gift.
You are for all time.
